

RED CROSS BEGINS REHABILITATION; MOVES ITS OFFICE

New Headquarters Established at Carpenter's Hall, 1411 North Grand, Near the Damaged Area.

$737,000 AVAILABLE TO RESTORE NORMAL

Survey Shows That Only 10 to 25 Per Cent of Tornado Sufferers Owned Their Own Homes.

A minority of householders in the tornado area, varying from 10 per cent in the north section to 25 per cent in the southern end, own their storm-wrecked or damaged homes, it was indicated by a skeleton survey of the tornado region, made by Red Cross officers in the last few days.

The survey, which was incomplete, covering selected blocks only, showed 15 per cent of home ownership to 25 per cent of renting in the central part of the damaged district. On a few blocks in the Negro district, the ratio of home owners was much higher, rising to 75 per cent in a small area. This was because sections of Enright avenue, West Belle place and Cook avenue, included in the tornado zone, are among the best residential streets open to Negroes.

With the Red Cross work in transition from the emergency phase to that of rehabilitation, the headquarters will be moved tonight from the Lindell cutoff to Carpenter's Hall, 1411 North Grand boulevard, which is nearer to the damaged district.

Clothing at 3227 Lindell.

All the branches of the work will be housed in the new location, except clothing distribution, and a place for this is being sought in the neighborhood on North Grand. A line of applicants still seek clothing at 3227 Locust boulevard.

Contributions to the Red Cross tornado fund have reached $12,000. As was told yesterday, the cost of emergency relief met from the contributions funds over and above donations of clothing, supplies and moving services is estimated at $75,000. The balance of the still growing fund, $737,000 at present figures, will be available for rehabilitation work.

"The Red Cross is now in transition from the emergency work to the work of permanent rehabilitation, which means the effort to put the families of sufferers back to the standard of living to which they were accustomed before the tornado," said Mrs. Frank V. Hammar, chairman of the St. Louis Chapter of the Red Cross.

"Rehabilitation is essentially the restoration of normal. There is small wonder that the general public does not understand the entirely different task involved in rehabilitation as compared to the emergency period. Permanent rehabilitation covers quite a long period, for the Red Cross accepts as its responsibility the investigation of all of the many problems involved in helping families re-establish themselves. This must be done in many ways.

"The organization accepts the funds which the public donates as a sacred trust, and while in the emergency the task was to care for the immediate needs of the sufferers as they occurred in the more permanent work it becomes necessary to know just what is to be done in each case, that proper help can be given.

"Cost, which was stored in the basement of wrecked houses is being removed and taken to the new homes of the owners, under an arrangement made by the Red Cross with the Union Fuel and Ice Co., which furnished the work at cost. In some cases, because of masses of debris, the coal could not be obtained, and had to be left where it was, as the Red Cross officers held they could not manage in many ways.

"Volunteers Withdrawn.

With the passing of the first emergency, the greater part of the volunteers serving in relief work have withdrawn. About 400 such workers are still serving in the clothing department, at the canteen in Moolah Temple and elsewhere. The canteen, which has distributed food to shelter stations, is to close within a few days.

The use of Poro College and church buildings for Negro families is about concluded, and last night only one woman sought shelter at Poro.

Regular work of the Red Cross, constituting its local service under Community Fund auspices, will be performed as usual, officials said today. Public school milk stations, dental and first aid stations are run as usual.

The American Legion auxiliaries have opened temporary relief headquarters at the Jackson Johnson Legion Post, 4169 Lindell boulevard, and are receiving donations of food and clothing, to be distributed to the needy.

Teapot Dome Decision a Blow to Fall's Defense

oil operators who fled the country when the Teapot Dome leases became a national scandal. The decision itself disclosed how Sinclair, Blackmer, O'Neill, Robert W. Stewart, chairman of Standard Oil of Indiana, H. S. Oster, a Canadian king's counsel, and Col. E. Humphreys, a Texas oil operator, conspired to form the Continental Trading Co., a dummy organization, which paid Fall close $2,370,500 in Liberty bonds.

Blackmer, a former chairman of the Midwest Refining Co., was served with a subpoena several months ago on the train between Monte Carlo and Nice. O'Neill, former president of the Prairie Oil and Gas Co., has not yet been served with a summons. When he was located in Pomerene in Czechoslovakia recently he said he would appear at the criminal conspiracy trial.

Justice Butler Outlines Fraud. The story of the Continental Trading Co. and Fall's connection with it was as follows: "Shortly after the making of the lease, Fall received from a hidden source a large amount of Liberty bonds, and others were used for his benefit. The substance of the disclosed circumstances follows: A. E. Humphreys, a director of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, the latter and the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation owned share and share alike the pipe line company and purchasing company, Nov. 15. Humphreys, his counsel, Charles S. Thomas; Blackmer, Sinclair, O'Neill, president of the Prairie Oil & Gas Co., met in New Mexico.

"It was there understood that Humphreys' companies would sell to Blackmer at $1.50 a barrel half their production up to 32,523,323 barrels, and also that they would sell at prices current in the Praire Company and the purchasing company half the production after delivery of the oil sold to Blackmer. The same persons and R. W. Stewart, president of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, the latter and the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, arranged for the delivery of the oil to the Praire Company and the purchasing company half the profit to Fall. Fall confirms the belief generated by other circumstances in the case, that he was a faultless public officer. There is nothing in the record that tends to mitigate the order proposed to be given him.

Fall Eager to Get Authority. Justice Butler furthered did not take a sentinel view of the $25,000 Sinclair gave outright to Fall, did the young jury when it considered the $100,000 Fall got from Doheny. Fall told J. W. Zevely (Sinclair's attorney) that he wanted the money to buy one or two small ranches with the $25,000.

"It does not appear that he ever bought the ranches," the Butler declared. "It is obvious that he was not a straightforward transaction.

"Fall ceased to be secretary of the company in 1923," the decision continued. "Shortly afterwards Sinclair gave him $25,000. Sinclair was about to go to Russia on business, and Zevely had arranged with Fall to meet him there. Fall was given $10,000 for expenses; and May 26, 1923, Sinclair directed his secretary, Wahlgren, to give Zevely $25,000. If the latter asked for $25,000 a few days later, Zevely obtained the funds and at Fall's request, had them sent to the First National Bank of El Paso. Zevely wrote the bank that the package belonged to Fall.

"After Fall left, inquiries were made at the department, but all information was withheld. When demand became more insistent, Fall wired his office to notify Sinclair to furnish a surety company bond in view of congressional agitation" instead of Sinclair's personal bond, heretofore accepted. About April 21, information concerning the lease was given in response to a Senate resolution.

No Legitimate Reason for Secrecy. "There was never any legitimate reason for secrecy. The Mammoth Oil Co. insists that the lease should not be made public, the result being to drain the funds of the company. The circuit court did not pass upon the matter. The Circuit Court of Appeals found there was a remote but no immediate danger. It said 'the drainage danger was unquestionably not imminent enough to force immediate action in the leasing of the entire property.' That fact is satisfactorily established.

"A discussion of the evidence is necessary. The circumstances, terms of arrangement and testimony of witnesses show that the lease and agreement were not made to prevent drainage. While Fall and Wahlgren indicated that they thought such danger existed, but the evidence warrants a finding in bad faith to make it appear that there was a reason for the exhaustion of the reserve and the proposed disposition of its products.

"In January, 1922, Fall was informed that counsel for certain oil companies had held that the use of royalty oil to pay for fuel deposits was not authorized by law. He expressed fear that, because of the question as to the legality of bartering royalty oil for storage, he would be liable for this contract and lease in full. He refused to submit the question to the Attorney General; and, as a reason for not taking such legal advice, said that the chances were at least even, or at least there was some chance that an adverse opinion would be given and if the Attorney General's decision is doubtful whether counsel for Sinclair and Fall will raise the 'war specter' argument to give a patriotic air to the leases, as was done in the Fall-Doheny conspiracy trial.

History of Lease Renewed. "From the beginning Fall was keenly interested in the leasing of the naval petroleum reserves," the decision stated. "The Associated Press is entitled to the right to reiterate what it has previously said, and also the local news published in the papers, that the oil companies which had been granted the leases, heretofore, were also received.

"In the light of yesterday's decision it is doubtful whether counsel for Sinclair and Fall will raise the 'war specter' argument to give a patriotic air to the leases, as was done in the Fall-Doheny conspiracy trial.

GRAND JURY INQUIRY INTO $170,000 GRAFT

About 200 Witnesses Called in Investigation of Protection of East Side Bootleggers.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

QUINCY, Ill., Oct. 11.—Inquiry by a Federal grand jury into evidence of prohibition enforcement graft in Madison County, Ill., in which a group of conspirators is alleged to have collected at least $170,000, began here today.

About 200 persons residing in Alton, the Tri-Cities and other Madison County communities have been subpoenaed as witnesses. It is thought that among this number are persons who paid the conspirators for protection against arrest for moonshining and bootlegging. If such persons testify before the grand jury without waiving immunity, they cannot be prosecuted for their own offenses against the liquor law.

Of those subpoenaed before the grand jury, about 100 are from Granite City, Madison and Venice, which comprise the Tri-Cities. Inquiry there has not disclosed who these persons are, although most of them are thought to have set out for Quincy. However, it is known that one witness is Chief of Police Ross Johnson of Granite City, who gained information about bootleggers in raids.

As told exclusively in the Post-Dispatch two months ago, a year's work in Madison County by Federal Investigator Victor J. Dowd led to the arrest of two Justices of the Peace, five Constables and an alleged Anglelander. Dowd said that his estimate of $170,000 graft included protection money and liquor law fines and costs withheld from the county.

There was a parade of bootleggers to Dowd's headquarters in Alton to tell what they knew about the situation and he said that 100 of them told of paying for protection. It was understood that at least 200 persons in all made statements to the investigator, who announced there would be about 240 witnesses available for the Government prosecution.

After learning the numerous places where liquor was sold, Dowd had his men shadow the suspected grafters. These agents, it is said, withheld down payments of protection money. Then the victims of the grafters received intimation that it would be wise for them to tell the investigator what they knew, and most of them did so.

WIDOW AND HER ADMIRER DENIED RELEASE ON BOND

New Jersey Judge Says
Evidence Laid Before
Him Does Not Warrant
Granting of Bail.

IGNORE EACH OTHER WHEN ARRAIGNED

Mrs. Lilliendahl Hires Detective Who Supports Her Story That Negroes
Killed Physician.

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Oct. 11.—Calmly confident that they were to be released on bail, Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl and Willis Beach, her neighbor, heard with obvious dismay yesterday the ruling of Supreme Court Justice Luther Campbell that they must remain in the Atlantic County jail until Nov. 28, when they go on trial jointly for the murder of the woman's husband, Dr. William Lilliendahl, of South Vineland.

One surreptitious correspondents, so the State charges, through the "Peggy Anderson" letters, the two defendants paid not the slightest attention to each other in the little courtroom.

Mrs. Lilliendahl, dressed in mourning with a heavy veil, was patently nervous. Once she changed her seat and several times she seemed to be on the verge of tears.

Indication that the State apparently has woven a stronger chain of circumstantial evidence about the pair than has been popularly believed came in Justice Campbell's ruling to the two lawyers, Charles M. Phillips for Mrs. Lili-endahl, and Edison Hedges for Beach.

"I have received from the State quite in detail the proof it has in hand," said the jurist, "and I am sorry that I cannot be more open and explicit about the matter.

"It would be unfair to the defendants as well as to the State for me to express openly what has come to me and particularly would it be unwise and improper because it might prejudice the mind of the public against the parties you represent.

"After having had these matters laid before me and after careful consideration, because this is not a snap judgment, I have come to the conclusion that I must deny the application for bail. I have endeavored to express myself to you as a lawyer, and perhaps as lawyers you can supply my shortage of words with the correct meaning."

Later, to a reporter who went to Justice Campbell to verify his statement from the bench, the jurist said he was no longer in court, the Justice explained he had been in a "double-barreled dilemma." By "proof" he said he meant the proof
the State expects to establish during the trial.

"If I divulged the evidence," Justice Campbell added, "it might prejudice the State's case by giving the defendants the opportunity to refute it. On the other hand, it might prejudice the defendants in the eyes of the public."

The arraignment of the physician's widow and Beach delayed for nearly two hours. S. Edward Hall, assistant Prosecutor and trial attorney for the State, had read the indictment against the pair, William Blair, court clerk, asked Mrs. Lilliendahl how she pleaded to the charge of murder.

"Not guilty," she replied, stressing each syllable.

"Not guilty," repeated Beach a minute later.

Phillips was the first to ask for bail for his client, pointing out she was "a woman and entitled to the best defense in the law."

"I could draw Your Honor's attention," he continued, "to the fact that in the Hall-Mills case the defendant was admitted to bail before the indictment and was continued after the indictment."

Justice Campbell characterized the Hall-Mills case as "exceptional" and said it was the first time in a long term of years where bail was allowed in a capital case.

"Assuming for argument only that this case is based on circumstantial evidence," he went on, "it is not sufficient for our decision to say it is without weight because circumstantial evidence sometimes speaks more forcibly than direct evidence. This does not leave us in a position where we might say in the words of the Constitution, 'The presumption of guilt is not great.'"

Hedges then wanted to know if Beach's leaving his home shortly before a warrant was issued charging him with aiding and abetting the murder had anything to do with the Justice's decision against bail.

Justice Campbell replied he had been moved only by "the facts the prosecutor laid before me."

Widow Employs Private Detective.
Sitting near Mrs. Lilliendahl was John J. Gregory, Newark private detective who figured in the Hall-Mills case and who had been employed by the widow in her defense.

"My investigation," he said
"supports Mrs. Lilliendahl's statement as to the death of Dr. Lili-endahl. We will be able to prove she is innocent. There is no reason for disbelieving her story that her husband was killed by two Negroes or two men who looked like Negroes. The prosecution is going to have a big surprise."

The two accused were taken back to their cells through the tunnel which connects the jail with the court house. Beach's son Ray was in court but Mrs. Lilliendahl had no relatives present.

POWER CONCERNS GOUGE PEOPLE, NORRIS CHARGES

Governmental Control of the Industry Will Be Major Issue in 1928 Campaign, He Believes.

ASSERTS STATES MUST ACT AT ONCE

"Trust" Gains Hold on Consumers on Basis of Inflated Values, in Buying Plants, He Avers.

Special to the Post-Dispatch
WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Government control of the $10,000,000 light and power industry, through legislation and Federal example, will be made a major issue at the coming session of Congress and carried into the 1928 presidential campaign, Senator George W. Norris (Rep.) of Neb., insurgent leader of the Senate, predicts.

The proposed Walsh investigation of the power industry, action on the Boulder Dam Bill and disposition of the $100,000,000 Muscle Shoals project will bring the issue before Congress, Norris said yesterday. The Walsh inquiry will reveal such an exploitation of the American public by the power industry, Norris declared, that either Congress or the States will be forced to enact immediate legislation.

The Walsh investigation will alert the people and the State Legislatures or Congress to safeguard their rights further," said Norris. "There will be some Federal legislation but it will depend on how quickly and how far the State Legislatures correct existing conditions after the people are informed."

Says People Will Realize

Government operation of Muscle Shoals as a power project and Government supervision of Boulder Dam as a power project," Norris said. "The public will realize quickly to the people how they have been gouged by the power industry."

To prevent this revelation, Norris maintained, the power industry has opposed Government operation of either project on the ground it would "place the Government in business."

"The Walsh investigation will show how the so-called power trust like the Insull interests for example, go into the country and buy the municipally operated power plant at double its value," Norris declared. "Say a plant is worth $50,000, then Insull will buy it for $100,000. Then the Insull concern gets the State Commission to fix rates which will pay an 8 per cent return on the $100,000 investment. The people are gouged, not because the State Commissions are dishonest, but because the commissions either are fooled by the power trust or else the local laws are inadequate to protect the people from the inflated values."

"This has been going on all over the nation, and it is a question of only a short time before the power trust will have complete control over the production and distribution of electricity all over the United States."

"They will give a few men an absolute monopoly over a necessity of life, as in modern life electricity has become a necessity in every home. In the future, its needs will grow, and it will become as much a necessity as water or bread. When such a necessity is controlled by private monopoly, living conditions will be intolerable and a free people will not submit to them."

YOUR ST. LOUIS How Well Do You Know It?

Western Union Telegraph Company
Do you know that the WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY employs more than 1,000 St. Louisans as wage earners and that more than $100,000 is paid out to these people monthly in the form of salaries—all of which is spent right here in your midst?

You know that the magnificent new Western Union building, located at the southwest corner of 6th and Chestnut streets, is one of so such offices scattered throughout this large city? And that each and every unit is maintained to give 100% service regardless of the destination of the telegram or cable presented for transmission.

More than 75,000 telegrams pass through the main office daily. However, the latest electrical equipment makes the important task of transmitting 93 per cent of these telegrams within 10 minutes a comparatively easy operation.

In this modern telegraph office four telegrams are sent and four received over the same wire at practically the same impulse of the moment, making it possible to handle 800 telegrams per hour on a single wire.

Do you realize that this company not only furnishes telegraphic facilities to 22,000 small towns and cities in the United States, but also works direct from this city with 558 cities, towns and hamlets, including all the larger cities in this country?

Every day this space will be devoted to some one particular manufacturing plant or industry which is contributing to the dynamic growth of St. Louis.

500 MISSING PERSONS TRACED BY BUREAU

Clearing House of Tornado Information Closes After Term of Arduous Service.

I am sending you the photograph of a lady friend I want you to locate for me. I don't know her name or address.

Just before Mrs. C. Gaylord Fauntleroy closed her Missing Persons Bureau in the Crossroads, she had received a request from the individual Locust cut-off yesterday, that request came in from Illinois. It was one of many similar requests that poured in on the bureau after the tornado. The bureau traced families and individuals who had moved out of the storm area, sought out persons for relatives to see that they were safe, and ran down rumors of missing persons by the dozen.

But aside from that it was called upon to do all sorts of chores. It acted as a reconciliation agent in settled disturbances and related the return of a man who had been missing for a week, a dog blown away by the tornado to its owner. And, at the request of anxious inquirers, it traced persons who had never been near the tornado area, as it turned out when they were found in some remote part of the city.

In spite of these demands on its services, the Missing Persons Bureau was able to find, it was estimated, more than 500 persons sought by friends or relatives. Several thousand requests of various kinds were made upon the bureau for aid in telegrams and cables, inquiring about persons supposed to have been in the storm area in from all parts of the country and from Europe.

The calls on the bureau, however, had fallen off until the closing of the bureau was announced last night. Future inquiries for missing persons will be handled by the regular relief workers. The bureau which Mrs. Fauntleroy headed was manned chiefly by volunteers.

Storm-Stricken "Temple of Wisdom" Moves to New Quarters.

The tornado destroyed the Headquarters of the recently-chartered Temple of Wisdom of the United States, at 4117 Lindell boulevard but Mrs. Myrtle Rupp, the Chief Oracle, is preparing to reopen temporarily at 5736 Bartimer avenue, her new home.

"A voice told me that storm was coming," Mrs. Rupp said, "and I knew the house would be hit. Otherwise, I might have been injured or killed. It wrecked the house and destroyed most of our furniture. It carried two arm chairs through the window that we could get into the room only by opening the folding doors. I can't understand how they went through the window. My life and my husband's life were spared but the tornado injured a girl who roomed with us on the second floor. We were buying the house and had very little tornado insurance on it."

The Temple of Wisdom obtained its charter at Jefferson City in August. Through it Mrs. Rupp hoped to spread her teachings of the spiritual world.

10 PLEAD GUILTY IN INDUSTRIAL ALCOHOL PLOT

Five Sent to Federal Prison and Others Fined in Cleveland — 102 Still to Be Tried.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, Oct. 11.—The Federal Government has won its first big victory against the super-industrial alcohol ring involving 112 defendants, with the guilty pleas yesterday of five reputed leaders of the conspiracy and five of their associates.

Benjamin and Frank Fogel, brothers; Benjamin and David Gersenstein, brothers, and Edward Silberstein, all of Philadelphia, the men said to have organized the Cleveland Superior Industrial Alcohol Co. were sentenced to Atlanta Penitentiary for 18 months and fined $6500 each by Federal Judge Paul Jones.

Sold, Redistilled Alcohol.

The alcohol ring, it was charged, diverted into bootleg channels millions of dollars worth of redistilled alcohol which was supposed to be used for industrial purposes. Its market, District Attorney Bernstein said, was the East and Northwest.

The 10 who pleaded guilty will be free under bond until Nov. 1, when trials of the remaining 102 defendants will begin.

Penalties imposed on the associates of the ring leaders were: David R. Roth, a year and a day at Atlanta and a $1550 fine; Percy Corbin, $500 fine; Benjamin Silberstein, $500 fine; and Charles Peterman, $100 fine. Sentence of Walter Engresser, the tenth to plead guilty, was deferred. These men also were from Philadelphia.

Traced by Car Shipments.

Harry Volpe of Philadelphia, who pleaded guilty when the first blanket indictment was returned nearly two years ago, is awaiting sentence with Engresser. It was through a carload of alcohol consigned to Volpe that the operations of the ring were discovered. Later shipments were traced to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago, San Jose, Cal., and other cities. Of the original 112 defendants, four in Philadelphia and five in Duluth have removal cases pending. Three have died and 10 have never been arrested.

The Superior Alcohol Co. was organized to sell grain alcohol to manufacturers of toilet lotions. The company, then a Federal official declared, diverted grain alcohol to bootleg channels in all sections of the United States. Federal officials said the company made and sold $140,000,000 worth of grain alcohol a year to wholesale distributing syndicates.

The company was known as "the Wall street of the rum ring." The group set the bootleg price of alcohol for the nation, Federal officials said. With Philadelphia as the center of the control the ring had a virtual monopoly of bootleg alcohol.

Controlled 15 Distilleries.

Under the ring's ownership and control were 15 distilleries, many of them in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, Ohio and Indiana. The distillers made grain alcohol for the ring at 60 cents a gallon, the price being set so the books of the company could be opened to Federal officials for inspection.

The syndicate in each of the distilleries made a profit, Federal officials said, by "splits" from the organization in control. Federal officials said the distilleries averaged shipments of 15 carloads of grain alcohol a week each, some of them supplying as high as 30, while others ran down to five.

The ring set the price to the distributing syndicates at $3 a gallon, a profit of 400 per cent. Federal officials said that with the average of about 150 gallons shipped in a carload the ring flooded the country with 900,000 gallons a week.

The wholesalers sold to the bootleggers and the bootlegger retailed to customers at between $10 and $15 a gallon.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS GETS
OLIVER W. HOLMES' LETTERS
They Were Written Between 1869
and 1891 to Esther Bernon Carpenter, Author.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—A packet of letters by Oliver Wendell Holmes, tell of the genial, sympathetic man which characterized the "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," has been added to the collection of American historical and literary papers in the manuscripts division of the Library of Congress. Holmes' son is the Associate Justice Holmes of the Supreme Court.

The letters were written between 1869 and 1891 to Esther Bernon Carpenter of Wakefield, R. I., author of "South County Neighbors," and contained much kindly comment and advice on her efforts in verse and prose. They dwindle in frequency with the passage of time, and toward the end he tells of his failing vision.

They were preserved for many years by Miss Carpenter's relatives, and are considered an important addition to the library's collection of manuscripts which are valuable to the student of American literature.

Storms Halt Alberta Threshing
LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Oct. 11.—Threshing operations over the whole of Southern Alberta have been halted by severe snow and rainstorms. Not more than 10 per cent of the section's huge wheat crop has been threshed.

Staten Island Railroad
Alone Announces Its Intention to Fight Gov.
Smith's Proposal.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Gov.

Smith's 1928 grade crossing elimination program was assured of success yesterday when 60 railroad executives agreed to the plan, which calls for abolishing 774 crossings in New York City at a cost of $110,750,000, and 202 up-State at a cost of $23,441,000.

The Staten Island Railroad, however, gave notice it would fight against abolition of 42 crossings at an estimated cost of $10,750,000.

But the assurances of help received from George L. Mumford, president of the Staten Island Railroad, and H. C. Crowley, president of the New York Central, in connection with his proposals for New York City and vicinity, elated the Governor.

"I would say it at the grade crossing elimination plan of the Transit Commission and the State Department of Public Work will be accepted practically in its entirety by the railroads, with the exception of those on the Staten Island Railroad in the borough of Richmond."

"As far as the money for expenditures is concerned, several of the railroads said they are ready to borrow from the State. Some of the larger ones, like the New York Central, the Long Island and the Pennsylvania, do not need to borrow from the State."

Gov. Smith referred to the $300,000,000 fund created by constitutional amendment, which he championed as the first step in his elimination program.

COOLIDGE GIVES FORTH HINT ON SUBJECT OF FARM RELIEF

Mention of Legislation. Although Slight, Is First Time in Months
Has Been Brought Up.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The brief statement that there have been no special developments regarding farm legislation was made today in the White House. This is the first time that even the slightest farm relief problem has been indulged in at the White House since the close of the last Congress. Just what significance could be attached to the statement seemed problematical.

Mr. Coolidge last year vetoed the McNary-Haugen agricultural bill and there has been no indication that he has changed his views or has any plans for a compromise measure to be presented next Congress.

By the Associated Press.
WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 11.—Charged that Police Chief Daniel Thompson maintained a bar at Police Headquarters, a recent police chief convention was made at a meeting of the Council. Thompson's resignation was demanded by a vote of 7 to 5. He is now under accusation of unlawfully converting money.

The Council was told that the bar was maintained during the convention by a former member of the Chief's staff, now serving jail sentence in Ottawa.

Staten Island Railroad
Alone Announces Its Intention to Fight Gov.
Smith's Proposal.

ASSAIS RECORD
OF ST LOUISAN

In Letter on Eve of Sedalia Rally He Attributes Boom
to 'Unhappily Detached'
Job Holders.

By CURTIS A. BETTS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SELDALIA, Mo., Oct. 11.—State
Senator A. L. McCawley of Carthage, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, has started a backfire on the movement of friends of former Gov. Gardner of St. Louis to arouse within the Democratic party a Gardner boom which they hoped would approach the proportions of the recent Newton movement in the Republican party.

McCawley, in a recent letter to
A. J. Slack, editor of the Steelville Ledger, who was a food and drug reporter in the Gardner administration, commented in a caustic vein on the availability of Gardner as a candidate who could hope for success.

The letter became public here today in connection with the Democratic rally scheduled for tomorrow when the various candidates will be on hand to promote their fortunes.

McCawley can say that the 1928 grade crossing elimination program of the Transit Commission and the State Department of Public Works will be accepted practically in its entirety by the railroads, with the exception of those on the Staten Island Railroad in the borough of Richmond.

As far as the money for expenditures is concerned, several of the railroads said they are ready to borrow from the State. Some of the larger ones, like the New York Central, the Long Island and the Pennsylvania, do not need to McCawley's Letter.

McCawley's letter follows:

"Hon. A. J. Slack, Editor
Food and Drug Inspector, Editor
Steelville Ledger, Steelville, Mo.,

"My Dear Friend Slack:

"Please accept my thanks for your thoughtfulness in marking and sending me a copy of a recent issue of your paper containing an article relative to the coming campaign for Governor. No one has any right to object to anyone entering the race for Governor. No candidate for the nomination would enter the race, the McCauley's Letter.

McCawley's letter follows:

"Hon. A. J. Slack, Editor
Food and Drug Inspector, Editor
Steelville Ledger, Steelville, Mo.,

"My Dear Friend Slack:

"The fact that the Republicans have done nothing since their assessment to power to relieve the unhappy tax situation in Missouri, will render our position no stronger
if headed by the leadership responsible in the first instance for such an unprecedented and unnecessary increase in the cost of State Government.

"Of course, ex-applicants and the self-appointed political leaders in the party is the keeper of his own conscience as to his choice of a candidate. But the claim made by you and others now unhappily detached from the payroll, that there is only one Democrat in the State who can be elected in 1928, and all others should get out and give him a clear field, is all bunk.

Any Democrat with the courage of his convictions and the ability to secure the nomination next August, will be elected.

A. L. McCawley.

McCawley the appointed by appointment, having an eye single to the payroll, want to clear the field for the nomination of the one at whose hands they have previously received emoluments and honors but the kind of a Democrat who will win is the one who will ask no quarter from any other candidate in the primary race.

"There are thousands of Democrats in Missouri who do agree with your opinion that the only hope the party has for a comeback in 1928 lies in the leadership that lost for the party control of the State seven years ago—a leadership which in the short period of four years, to use the language of the late illustrious and spectacular Waterson, led us through a slaughter house into an open grave."

"Many friends of the former Governor not of the payroll variety do not want to chance another defeat like that in 1928 and therefore feel that he should not enter the race.

The Case Against Gardner.

"Before writing the article in question, did you forget that the candidate whom you propose showed no great strength in 1916. Notwithstanding his great health and widely acclaimed personal popularity, Judge Lamm ran him so close a race that a loud cry went up for a contest and but for the good sportsmanship of the Judge, might have reached serious proportions.

Street Railway Strike in Berlin.
By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Oct. 11.—Michael Fahnrich, president of the Chicago Board of Local Improvements, and a party of Chicago traffic and municipal experts landed in Berlin today from an airplane to study the elevated and underground railway systems. They found the entire system tied up by an unexpected strike which railway workmen called at 5 a. m. The workers demand an eight-hour day. About 5000 men are affected.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for the right, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight denunciation of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Exonerates the Bulgarians.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I NOTICE in your paper the following headline: "Jugo-Slav Break With Bulgaria is Threatened." I am a pure Macedonian woman by birth and right. Have come into this country just recently. Such events as I read in the Post-Dispatch are not rare in my country. But what I wish to make clear is that no Bulgarians are causing the trouble. The comitadjis are natives of Macedonia itself who are tired of and dissatisfied with the present regime in Macedonia, or such who have been driven from their homes for that reason.

I wonder why we Macedonians don't take the blame on ourselves? We leave the world to think that Bulgaria came into our country (into other people's country) and caused trouble. Why blame somebody else for our mistakes? The Christian spirit rebels at this and I wish I could make all the world see and know that no Bulgarian has anything to do in Macedonia but we, we are the ones who revolt. Why? Protogerov is Macedonian and so are his followers, then why blame others? KOTCHOVA.

Bishop Muldoon.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I N the death of Bishop Peter J. Muldoon of Rockford, Ill., our country has lost one of its most useful citizens—a good man, a wise man, a brave man, a man who was always concerned with the future welfare of human beings on this earth. Although influential, he was excessively modest and was well content to let others carry on the works that he initiated. Those foolish persons who think that the Roman Catholic Church is conservative in the sense of being reactionary, are incorrect to social injustice in modern industrial civilization, would do well to study the life and activities of Bishop Muldoon.

TYRELL WILLIAMS.

William Sivers' Conviction.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

AFTER spending an interesting afternoon watching the Dempsey-Tunney fight pictures, thanks to William Sivers, I read with sorrow that fine old sportsman has been sentenced to jail for three months and fined $100.

Thousands of movie fans all over the country can remember the film with the title, "Little Old New York," in which was shown a bare-knuckle prize fight between "Bully Boy" Brewster and the "Bulky Terror." In the first house, if memory serves me right, the fight was for a sum of $10,000. Governor Mayors, Judges, and even a few ministers told the public, through the newspapers, that they should not miss seeing this wonderful scrap, because, as former Mayor Dever of Chicago said, it was very realistic. I do not remember having read about anybody being fined or given a jail sentence for transporting this film out of one state into another, and everybody who saw it agreed on two major points: for its reality and realism. It was the best fight ever seen.

I am not criticizing the law, but I certainly am sorry to hear that this fine old gentleman will be forced to spend Thanksgiving and Christmas in jail, when others are let go about their business under the same law.

I am convinced that the vast majority of fathers would much rather have their sons learn how to use their "dukes" than to learn to use concealed weapons, therefore the prize fight film must be termed instructive and the pistol fight film as destructive.

WYNDHAM H. MONROE.

A Drama Featuring a Lone Bee Hive, a Jersey Bull, the Apistar and a Persecuted Citizen.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

T HE state apistar is threatening to send me to jail over 15 cents. Reading in my home-town weekly today, I send him on notice. He warns that all beekeepers must pay his bureau 15 cents a hive. My lone hives happen to be down in a high hollow tree in the woods pasture, but the notice makes me tremble.

I had anticipated considerable pleasure out of that bee hive next April and May. The state makes it a crime to take my pole and line and go to the creek as spring arrives with the old urge, so I had planned a change from the happy old life. I had looked forward to going down to the pasture a safe distance from the old tree with my lone hives, aggravate the bee with a few rocks and enjoy the sight of my Jersey bull going into high gear.

Alas! I shall not have the courage to go near that bee tree again. The State apistar, the prosecutor and 18 deputies with sawed-off shotguns might come bounding out of the brush to demand that 15 cents.

Now my Jersey bull may think this is a good law, but for myself, I like the sentiments of the Post-Dispatch. It occurs to me that this is Governmental regulation carried to a ridiculous finality.

TEAPOT DOME RESTORED.

Following its own example in the Elk Hills lease, which it found had been secured by fraud and corruption, the United States Supreme Court has canceled the lease upon Teapot Dome, which it denounces in the same emphatic terms.

Thus are both the naval oil reserves, which are thought to have been a factor in the nomination of Mr. Harding for the presidency, and as to which the United States Government went through the greatest scandal in its history, restored to their original status. They have not been much damaged. Some oil was taken from them by the lessees, Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair, but in both cases tight denunciations of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

THE NORIS BOOM.

Insurgency did not die with Robert Marion La Follette. It is very much alive today. It plans to enter the presidential campaign next year. Its candidate, already chosen, is Senator Norris of Nebraska. He will be drafted unless he positively declines to make the race. The Norris boom, in its present stage, is a Republican party movement; but it brings with a third-party alternative.

As reported by the Post-Dispatch's Washington Bureau, Senator Borah is for Norris. Whether that means that Borah would support Norris on third ticket we do not know. It seems, however, to admit of that construction. And if that is correct the announcement is significant. For, however irregular Borah may be as a Senator, he has always supported the Republican candidate. He even refused to leave the reservation in the Roosevelt revolt of 1912. If he has finally made up his mind to break away in the forthcoming campaign his decision will cause uneasiness in the seats of the mighty.

Senator Norris is not the only man to whom the insurgents will rally. He himself mentions four availables. Borah, first; then Hiram Johnson of California, former Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania, and his Nebraska colleague, Senator Howell.

It may be doubted, though, if any of those men would make as impressive an appeal to popular imagination as Mr. Norris. Would Borah? The ability and prestige of the Idaho Senator are undeniable. They may be accounted, we believe, as national assets. But the blazing courage of his convictions endows Norris with a kind of moral supremacy.

Instances in point might be cited. His statement a few days ago, for example, that he would support Gov. Smith of New York as a progressive in preference to any reactionary Republican is the kind of statement which only Norris would make. More convincing, of course, was his action in going into Pennsylvania last year and campaigning the State for the Democratic candidate for Senator, William B. Wilson, as against the Republican, Vare, of "golden primary" repute. In that brave, admirable adventure Norris was alone. Borah remained aloof. So did Johnson. And so did Gifford Pinchot who, under the circumstances, it seems to us, was peculiarly challenged to enter the battle.

Such is Norris of Nebraska. To him the purity of the ballot is not a mere phrase. It is a solemn truth. It is the cornerstone of our democracy. Party fealty does not weigh in the balance at all.

Borah has summed it up in a sentence: "Senator Norris is a platform in himself." We have no idea how far he would get as a third-party candidate. The Northwest, home of insurgency, turned from La Follette. If that flaming crusader failed how may the less colorful Norris hope to succeed? We don't know. But the Northwest, and, indeed, the entire West, will in 1928 be four years older in disillusionment than they were in 1924.

The rift widens. The Republican party steadily becomes a more narrowly sectional party. It is the party of the Industrial East, of High Finance, of Big Business. It does not talk the language of the West, or think the West's thoughts, or dream the West's dreams. The break may or may not be due next year, or four years from then. But it is coming. And a Norris will lead the charge.

REMEDY FOR COUNTY LAWLESSNESS.

The opening of the session of the grand jury in St. Louis County is the signal for the closing of notorious gambling dens. How long will they remain closed? It is a fair assumption from the records of the county that the end of the session of the grand jury, unless indictments are found, will be the end of the closed season for the gambling dens.

The Post-Dispatch is not opposed to legitimate regulated race tracks, but unregulated race tracks and gambling dens are menaces to society, centers of corruption and lawlessness. The gambling dens cannot run without official connivance, and official connivance means corruption and a general reign of lawlessness.

The cause of the conditions, in St. Louis County which promote disorder and lawlessness is easy to find. It is a corrupt political machine, controlling officials who are charged with the duty of enforcing the law. The machine and its henchmen live on lawlessness and corruption. It can only exist and operate with the consent of the people of the county.

St. Louis County is one of the richest and most populous counties in the State. The population is rapidly increasing by the overflow from the restricted boundaries of St. Louis. Families from the city go to the county to find homes in the wider spaces. They want law and order, peace and quiet, freedom from the menace of lawless gangs. The task of cleaning up the county, eliminating conditions of lawlessness and vice and assuring law and order rests with the voters in the county. When the voters of the county make up their minds to rid the county of the corrupt political machine and its lawless adherents, they can do it. Grand jury investigations are good, but these investigations and gubernatorial interferences, which some people ask, are sporadic. The only cure for county ills is an honest and efficient county government.

GIVE HER THE CHAIR IN ENGLISH.

When they met he could not speak a word of English. "You must learn our language," said she. "I shall," he replied. Of course, he should have said "I will." But let that pass. On with the story.

Two months later. A letter comes from him. She probably opened it with misgiving, and yet with a flutter of hope. That flutter quickly bloomed into radiant delight. A letter in perfect English. Not a fumble. Not a bobble. And not merely stilted correct, but here and there an idiom was interwoven.

Who is he? Mussolini. And she? Viscountess Curzon. Is that all? We should say not. Any woman can, with a word, teach a man to speak perfect English in two months, must not be permitted to hide her talent under a bobbed head. She has a mission to perform. She should become instructor in English to the English speaking world, where perfect English has never yet been spoken.

Right on the heels of Pittsburg's Waterloo in the world series the Supreme Court cancels Harry Sinclair's lease on Teapot Dome. A tough season for Pirates, eh, what?

INSULLISM IN MAINE.

The trail of Samuel Insull, Chicago power king and huge contributor to campaign funds, has been traced to Maine, where he and his agents are engaged in a battle to control the incoming Governor and Legislature. It seems that the Insull crowd have obtained a near-monopoly on power companies and on the undeveloped power resources of Maine, but have been balked in their exploitation plans by a law which forbids exportation of power created in the State. The Insullites tried to have this law repealed last winter, but after being passed by the Legislature, it was vetoed by Gov. Brewster.

It is the aim of the power magnate now to get Brewster out of the way, and evidently he believes this can be done by abolishing the primary and restoring the convention system. At any rate, Insull has instituted a strong campaign against the primary. Copies of an Insull speech are being broadcast, in which that exemplar of civic virtue denounces "self-appointed guardians of The Peepul" and advises Maine to turn to men of great wealth and great brains, "those who have been mentally and materially favored by fortune," to run the Government.

In other words, Insull wants the citizens of Maine to turn public affairs over to Big Business, and particularly to his power trust. It is, to say the least, a candid platform. It comes from a man whose shameful activities in Illinois were exposed by the Reed committee, from a man who is now under citation of contempt to the United States for refusing to testify to facts in connection with the contributions made to Frank L. Smith. The citation involves a possible jail sentence.

Insull's money-bags have come a cropper in Illinois. Let's see what happens to them in Maine.

THE DRY DRIVE.

The Anti-Saloon League has drawn its plans for an aggressive campaign next year. It will have a fund of $1,750,000. All its state organizations will be in the fight. Every candidate for the Senate and House will be scrutinized. The big drive will have for its objective the election of a bone-dry to the presidency. For Smith, Reed and Ritchie the shells will never cease to scream, the drumfire never cease.

There will be no attempt, however, to insert a law-enforcement plank in the party platforms. This decision, we are told, is predicated on the theory that, by the adoption of the eighteenth amendment, "the American people have already settled the liquor question."

That may be good strategy. What of its sincerity? Do the dry leaders believe the liquor question is settled? Do they expect the American people to believe that they believe it? If the question is settled then why this vast effort and why this intensive campaign on a national scale that is to penetrate every congressional district?

It is patent, of course, that the question is not settled. If it were the dry leaders might all retire with laurels festooning their brows, to well-earned leisure and serene self-containment. Or they might press on to some other grand reform. No such lovely twilight or noble crusade beckons them. There is no room for the godly. They still march to battle because there is no other choice. If the Anti-Saloon League withdrew from politics prohibition would quickly be on the ropes.

They know it. Everybody knows it. Why not tell the truth about it. Why bluff?

The Delmar Avenue Station has moved two blocks north. It got tired of waiting for the viaduct.

Russell's Last Stories

TRAILS PLOWED UNDER. By Charles M. Russell. Doubleday, Page & Co.

SHORTLY before his death, Charles M. Russell completed these tales of the Old West as it was before the miners came with the barbed wire. He was past 90 and was sniffling the fruits of life. He was looking for the big snow at any time, but quite evidently he wasn't greatly worried about it. There is something of the sad tranquillity of late autumn in the foreword that he wrote just before the snow, and also there is something of the hearty thankfulness that ought to go with young cider and winter apples and a hearth newly kindled.

"Life has never been too serious with me," he wrote. "I lived to play and I still play yet. Laughs and good judgment have been my main black eye, but I don't laugh at the tears of others. I was a wild young man, but age has made me gentle. I drank, but never alone, and when I drank it was no secret. I still am friendly with drinking men. My friends are mixed—preachers, priests, sinners. I am old-fashioned and peculiar in my dress. I am eccentric (which is a polite way of saying you're crazy). I believe in luck and have lots of it. Any man that can make a living doing what he likes is lucky, and I'm that. Any time I cash in, I win."

And he was right, for surely it can be said without exaggeration that Russell's contribution, both with brush and pen, was unique and worthy to endure.

There are 43 yarns in "Trails Plowed Under," and they range from complete short stories to mere anecdotes and characterizations; but it is all precious stuff, and it is set forth in the true campfire style. "Rawhide Rollins," who held forth in two previous books, is the same author, as much in evidence here. Cowboys, punchers, Indians, horses, longhorns, bears, buffalo are the actors in these little dramas which, whether essentially tragic or comic, are worked out in terms of dry humor. Many fine drawings illuminate the text, and there are five double-page illustrations in color.

There is a characteristic introduction by Will Rogers who, writing from "The Old World, 1926," halls his lost comrade, "Hello

ADMITS KIDNAPING RADIO INVENTOR'S SON 4 YEARS AGO

Vagrant Held in Aberdeen, Wash., Says He Helped Abduct Verner Alexander in Schenectady.

By the Associated Press.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Oct. 11.—Arrested as a vagrant after participating in a rooming house brawl, Stanley G. Crandall was held in jail today on a charge of kidnapping Verner Alexander, little son of E. F. W. Alexander, noted radio engineer, in Schenectady, N. Y. He was identified by fingerprints and, confessed, police announced, he had a part in the kidnapping of young Alexander in Schenectady April 30, 1923. Crandall, who, police declare, had been living here under an assumed name, asserted he was "not ready" to waive extradition. He declined to discuss the details of the kidnapping but expressed the belief that Harry Fairbanks, his convicted accomplice in the crime, had revealed his whereabouts to police.

Kidnapped by Two.

Two men kidnapped young Alexander, who was induced to enter an automobile near his home. He was found in Tarrytown, N. Y., and returned to his parents. About two years later Fairbanks was arrested as a suspect in the kidnapping and sentenced to 10 to 50 years in prison. The General Electric Co., with which the elder Alexander is connected, offered a reward of $2500 for the capture of each of the two men.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 11.—A warrant for the arrest of Stanley G. Crandall, alleged kidnapper of Verner Alexander, son of a General Electric Co. inventor, is on its way to Aberdeen, Wash. The warrant, hastily prepared to aid in holding Crandall, was forwarded by air mail. Extradition papers are being prepared.

WOMAN, 95, ATTRIBUTES AGE TO USING BEER AND WINE DAILY

Climbing Stairs and Drinking Coffee Also Prolong Her Life, Says Mrs. Christine Pirl.

In response to a request of the Institute of Biological Research of Johns Hopkins University, at Baltimore, Md., Mrs. Christine Pirl, of 3026 South Jefferson avenue, yesterday told what she believes are some of the factors which have aided her in reaching the age of 95 years.

The institute, in its study looking toward the prolongation of human life, customarily writes to those of whom it hears who have reached unusually old age, in its efforts to learn the things which make for longevity.

Mrs. Pirl, in a letter dictated because of poor sight to a daughter, Mrs. Charles Goetz, said among the factors which she believes have kept her in good health for so long are climbing the stairs 1000 stairs to the second floor of her house, 10 to 15 times a day; drinking four cups of coffee daily and the "pep" and appetite which two glasses of wine and a glass of beer, of which she partakes daily, give her. In the glass of beer, which she drinks in the evening, Mrs. Pirl beats an egg.

"I eat little meat and plenty of fruits, vegetables and eggs," her letter states. "I am for temperature but I come from Bavaria, where we had beer or wine with all meals."

FROM MISSISSIPPI SCHOOLS

Court Rules Native Born Residents Must Enroll Only in Classes for Negroes.

By the Associated Press.
JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 11.—Native born Chinese were barred from white schools in Mississippi by a ruling handed down by the Mississippi Supreme Court yesterday.

A court ruling in the case of W. F. Bond, State Superintendent of Education, against Joe Tif Fung, an adult, and Joe Tin Lun, a minor, said that friction, disorder and general unhappiness would be occasioned if efforts were made to associate the Caucasian race with the colored race in Mississippi schools.

The Court defined as colored any race other than Caucasian, and held that it would be necessary for Joe Tin Lun to enroll in a Negro school. In making the ruling, the Supreme Court reversed the finding of the County Court, which would have required the State Superintendent and teachers of the Dublin Consolidated Schools to permit the Chinese pupil to enroll.

"ASK ME ANOTHER" FASHION QUESTIONS

By Sarah Van Rensselaer

My dear Miss Van Rensselaer: I am thirty years old, of medium height and considered fairly good looking, but I have never been able to acquire the smart manner of costuming myself no matter how much money I've spent in the endeavor. I am most anxious to learn for I am confident that I would be more welcome at social functions and feel more at ease if I weren't conspicuous for my poor taste.

Minneapolis, Minn. GRACE S.

Chic is not a matter of money—but of good taste and requires thought and intelligent planning. The first step is to choose the colors and it is necessary that you limit these so the various groups will blend and accessories and other things be interchangeable. Plan the wardrobe in four groups: sports and country clothes, town and travel clothes, afternoon clothes and evening clothes. In your accessories, be sure your underthings are designed to make your figure slim and straight-lined. Kayser has made several models to effect this silhouette and they are very successful. Since the slim figure is the keynote to chic then be sure everything you choose achieves this. In hosiery select either Slipper Heel* or Twin Heel.* S.V.R.

Dear Miss Van Rensselaer:

My daughter is to be married in the late fall and plans at that time to leave this country for Japan where her fiancée is in the American Consul Service. Her wedding dress will be a Robe de Style but her going away clothes are puzzling us. We do not know what color note to strike nor what the silhouette should be. She is of medium height with brown hair and a light, creamy complexion. I know you have just lately returned from Paris and no doubt, could help us out of our dilemma.

DeMoise, Ia. MAS. J. L. McB

Regarding the late fall and early winter mode, I will give you the benefit of what knowledge I acquired on the last trip. Paris shows a return of individualism and femininity to the mode and a retreat from the standardization which has threatened to destroy all self expressionism. The silhouette, however, still retains its straight-lines but not with masculine severity, rather with feminine softness.

Of course, the first thing to consider are underthings—for in the fitting of the costume the lines of the underthings play a major part. If they are bulky, then all is lost. Since your daughter is traveling I should advise Italian* Silk Underwear which washes so simply and quickly. It also is infinitely soft and clings to the natural contours of the figure. The new bandeau stepins are practical and give a slender line as does the new yoke front bloomer—both of these styles are found in a number of versions and shades for any taste.

As you are planning this wardrobe for winter wear, warm shades should be the keynote—wines, (carmelian, this season) beaver-beige and blacks. But, be sure to use as much as not more care in the selection of accessories for they make or break the "tout ensemble." In gloves the new Chamoisette* models are irresistible and practical for your purpose for they wash as easily as a handkerchief and dry very quickly so that one need never be without clean ones. Not only that but they outwear kid gloves two to one. Select a variety of beige shades with embroidered cuffs to complement your afternoon costume of carmelian or beaver-beige. Select a natural chamois shade in a gauntlet style for tailored wear and white for an effective contrast with black. A luscious red bag of simple lines would complete the effect for any of the costumes.

The Court defined as colored any race other than Caucasian, and held that it would be necessary for Joe Tin Lun to enroll in a Negro school. In making the ruling, the Supreme Court reversed the finding of the County Court, which would have required the State Superintendent and teachers of the Dublin Consolidated Schools to permit the Chinese pupil to enroll.

Frills haven't yet appeared in this new mode—there's just a more alluring, soft touch to the costume. Chamoisette* by Kayser with their novel stitching or unique cuff effects reflect this spirit.

THEATERS BOMBED IN STRIKE; WOMAN INJURED IN PANIC

Movie Houses Under Police Guard in St. Paul and Minneapolis—Unions Deny Blame for Dynamiting.

By the Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 11.—Twin cities motion picture theaters today were under police guards, and all negotiations between striking theater employees and owners had been broken off by the owners, following the bombing of two theaters.

One woman was injured and 300 patrons were driven in panic to the street when a bomb exploded in the Forest Theater during a performance last night. The Lagoon Theater at Minneapolis also was damaged by a dynamite bomb. The Lagoon was unoccupied at the time of the explosion except for the janitor, who was not injured.

A conference between the owners and unions' heads, which was to have taken place today, was canceled immediately after the bombings. The owners issued a statement that they were too busy trying to protect their property to engage in any further negotiations. Union leaders denied any connection with either bombing.

The Twin Cities strike, which started shortly after the Chicago movie team, has continued uninterrupted, with neither side retreating from its original stand.

The trouble started with the demands for a six-day week, made by the stage hands. When the owners refused to meet their requests, the stage hands struck. They were followed by the operators and musicians, who declared "sympathy" strikes.

The movie houses, for the most part, have been operating despite the strike, and it had been hoped that today's conference would result in a compromise.

2820 GALLONS OF WINE AND PRESS SEIZED IN RAID

Dry Agents Invade Two Cellars in Luxembourg and Arrest John Gergen.

Prohibition agents yesterday raided the cellars of two houses at 9306 and 9310 Saddle avenue, Luxembourg, and seized 2820 gallons of grape wine in barrels, six barrels of wine pulp and a large wine press. Agents placed a bootleg value of $1,000 on the wine.

John Gergen, whose wife operates a wine garden at 9345 Eugenia avenue, was arrested when found at work in the cellars.

Another raid yesterday was on the home of Harry Wipke, St. Charles and Natural Bridge roads. Prohibition agents said their suspicions were aroused when Wipke was driving ahead of them on the road and alcoholic odors came from his car. The agents reported finding alcohol and beer in the car and in the house.

The Private Life of a Lady of the XVth CenturyBy JOHN ERSKINE, who told us All We Ought to Know About Helen of Troy and Galahad

After looking over a copy of Cosmopolitan recently, Mr. Hearst, who knows at least as much about the publishing business as any other man living, said: "There's no question about it: this is the aristocrat of magazines. Any writer with a real message to deliver or a real story to tell, sooner or later chooses its pages as his avenue for reaching the reader who will understand and appreciate."

Which is quite true.

John Erskine, who wrote "The Private Life of Helen of Troy" and "Galahad" begins in Cosmopolitan a new set of private lives—the first being the leading feature of the November issue (just now on sale). Dr. Erskine found, when he addressed his class at Columbia, that dry-as-dust facts were good only as soporifics, but that those facts, interpreted in the language of our day and given the glamour of romance, drew crowds and stimulated thought. So he wrote history as romance—and his books sold in thousands. Now he wishes to reach even a wider audience, and he chooses magazines. And naturally he gravitates to Cosmopolitan. Naturally to Cosmopolitan, because there he finds the companionship of George A. Dorsey and Will Durant, distinctive thinkers; of Irvin S. Cobb and E. Phillips Oppenheim, Arthur Somers Roche and Capt. Thomason, distinctive story-tellers; of W. Somerset Maugham and Maurine Watkins, distinctive playwrights; of Peter B. Kyne and A. E. W. Mason, distinctive novelists; of George Ade and H. C. Witwer, Ring Lardner and O. O. McIntyre, distinctive humorists all; and of others outstanding in their fields.

A company which explains why Cosmopolitan appeals to the largest CLASS audience in the world, the largest audience of intelligent readers; an audience so determined to have the best and only the best that each reader pays each month for his copy a price which would buy several other magazines.

LEGION MEN HOST TO BRITISH AT LONDON FAREWELL DINNER

Lord Mayor Entertains American Visitors at Luncheon; Good Will Party Boarded Ship.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The American Legion "good will party" took part in many activities yesterday, which began with a visit to King George and Queen Mary and ended last night with a dinner to the British Legionnaires who have been the Americans' hosts. The Legionnaires were luncheon guests of Sir Rowland Blades, Lord Mayor of London, and the Sheriffs of London in the fifteenth century Guild Hall.

Howard P. Savage, retiring national commander, sat on Sir Rowland's right and Alanson B. Houghton, American Ambassador, sat on the Lord Mayor's left. Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Minister; Viscount Cave, Lord Reading and Desborough and Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton occupied seats of honor.

The party received its last ceremonial farewells at the Southampton docks from official deputations of the British Government, and from various bodies of British ex-service men.

Aboard the Leviathan, besides the Legionnaires, as passengers are Ambassador Houghton, Roald Amundsen, the explorer, and Sir Thomas Lipton, the yacht enthusiast.

FLIMSY BUILDINGS WASTE FUEL, SAYS CONSERVATIONIST

Prof. W. Trinks of Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Addresses Meeting in City.

'CHEAPER TO WASTE THAN IT IS TO SAVE'

He Points to Heat Insulation and Proper Furnace Equipment as Ways to Cut Consumption.

The great cry in industry is apparently not to save fuel, but to save man power, to increase production per man, except in those processes in which the cost of fuel is so great that it completely overshadows wages and salaries.

This declaration was made today at the first National Fuels Meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, at Hotel Statler, by Prof. W. Trinks of Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa. His theme was the high cost of fuel saving, and he covered domestic consumption also. Of that he said:

"Too many houses in the United States are flimsily built. They keep out the rain, most of the wind, and the neighbor's curiosity. They could be built with heat insulation and a few are so built, but by far the greater number are built with very little regard to insulation. Heating equipment often is inadequate and furnaces must be forced, that is, used inefficiently to generate the necessary heat. The result is a great fuel consumption during the cold season."

Cheaper to Waste Than Save.

"Under the present economic order it is unfortunately cheaper to waste fuel than to save it, at least in many localities and under many circumstances."

"What is the cost of fuel saving? If we possess fuel-wasting equipment and consider replacing it by other equipment which saves fuel, the standard method of calculation is the following: We ascertain cost of the new equipment, including cost of installation and of removal of the old equipment, minus the cost of salvage of old equipment, and compute interest, depreciation, amortization, also cost due to loss of use during the time of changing over. We add to this cost of possible increases in labor, supervision and maintenance, and compare the sum total with the fuel saving, at present market prices of fuel. If the saving sufficiently over-balances the cost items to make the change attractive, then, and only then, do we go ahead and install the fuel-saving equipment. It always comes right down to dollars and cents, or immediate personal gain. Saving for future generations is never even considered."

Economical Pressure Variable.
The most economical steam pressure varies with the location of the plant. We know that we can save fuel by going to still higher pressures, but it is not done because it costs too much. By raising steam pressure in locomotives to 800 or 900 pounds we can save at least 30 per cent of the fuel, but introduction of radical changes in railroad work is fraught with danger.

"A very glaring example of the high cost of fuel saving is furnished by the electrification of our railroads. Fuel can be saved by this, but the cost is so enormous that electrification has been limited to suburban and terminal traffic. There is one exception to this and the road which made it went into bankruptcy shortly after the completion of electrification.

"Steel plates are great wasters of fuel. Products of combustion leave the velocities of incandescence at temperatures as high as 2400 degrees, and few attempts are made to salvage the enormous quantities of heat. The reason is plain; it costs too much."

"The miners' union, it is often said, are doing their best to make fuel both scarce and dear, but their efforts do not help the nation, because they are selfish and not constructive. If fuel is to be saved, it must be made dear artificially. There is only motive for such a step would be the thoughtfulness for posterity. The question may well be asked: What has posterity done for us?"

Prof. Trinks decried the practice of doing without sufficient instruments and need to handle them and compute findings in many power plants. Municipal power plants, those of hospitals and schools, and many others, he asserted, often use but one instrument, the pressure gauge. See

Describes Modern Boilers.
Characteristics of modern boilers, in contrast with older ones, were described by E. R. Fish, vice president and chief engineer of the Heinz Boiler Co., St. Louis. Nowadays, he related, it is the engine room which is small in comparison with the boiler room, instead of the other way round, but still it has become necessary to design boilers capable of supplying tremendous small plants to keep in accurate touch with results.

General Motors Man Speaks.
Morgan B. Smith, engineer of the General Motors Corporation, Detroit, in a paper, declared:

"In this country industrial steam plants at large show an average boiler and furnace efficiency of 55 per cent, whereas 70 per cent may reasonably be expected.

Smith recited a long routine recommended for purchasing coal.

350,000 per year. Steam-plant efficiency can be raised only by coordinating coal selection, before plant operation, better and proper maintenance of plant, adequate records of plant performance and installation of instruments for the guidance of plant operators and for obtaining comparative data."

were delivered at today's session. H. D. Savage of New York yesterday told the conference about a low-temperature coal carbonizing process, which extracts fuel gas, tar and oil from the coal and still leaves an excellent, smokeless fuel.

NEGRO KILLED AFTER WOUNDING 14 IN SIEGE

Birmingham (Ala.) Ice Cream
Vendor Barricades Self in Home; Deputy May Die.

By the Associated Press
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 11.—One man was near death today and 14 others were wounded while the body of Charlie Pinkston, crazed Negro, who late yesterday terrorized the Negro section, was in the morgue. Literally perforated with bullets from the weapons of more than 100 police officers, whom he had held off more than two hours.

Apparently losing his mind when George Kirkhoff, a City Sanitation officer, attempted to inspect his ice cream stand, Pinkston slashed the inspector's throat and fled to a nearby house, where he barricaded himself and took his stand at a window with a shotgun.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Williams, arriving a few minutes later to arrest the Negro, was met by a shotgun charge which struck in his abdomen. A riot call brought more than 50 policemen, who endeavored to dislodge the Negro with a barrage from machine guns, pistols and rifles.

Two Bombs Thrown In.

Falling in this, an armored police car was driven alongside the Negro's stronghold and five tear bombs tossed in.

Meanwhile, eight policemen had dropped under the fire of the Negro. In addition, six persons in a crowd that clogged streets about the house were wounded by stray shots.

Williams was taken to a hospital where physicians hold slight hope for his recovery.

With the aid of additional officers, several policemen mounted to the roof of an adjacent house, where through a window they could see Pinkston staggering about within, apparently almost overcome by the fog of tear gas.

Police Rush Negro's Room.

Plain Clothes Officer Wood Sandifer opened fire on the Negro, who staggered out of range. A squad of detectives and police rushed the room, and Pinkston fell under a volley of bullets that perforated his arms, head, shoulders and chest.

A riot was narrowly averted as officers were removing the Negro's body from the house. Several hundred members of the mob trampled on Pinkston's body. They were driven off; however, and the body was taken to police headquarters under heavy guard.

Archbishop Marchetti-Selvaggiani Returns to Chicago After Stay of Two Days.

Archbishop Marchetti-Selvaggiani, Papal representative to the meeting in Chicago of the American Diocesan Directors of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, was a guest at St. Louis University Saturday and Sunday. He was accompanied by Mr. Quinn, American director-general of the society, and Mr. Considine, his secretary.

The party was taken by auto over the diocese by Archbishop Glennon Sunday morning, and departed for Chicago later that day.

The visiting Archbishop is 55 years old and has been a priest for 31 years. From 1900-1905 he was auditor and Apostolic legate in Washington. He has served in diplomatic tasks in Munich, Vienna, Venezuela and Berne. During the World War he represented the Pope in the exchange of German and French prisoners of war.

NEW YORK TAKES CHARGE OF EXECUTED SPY'S ESTATE

Special to the Post-Dispatch
NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The case of Paul Marie Bolo de Grange-neuve, better known as Bolo Pasha, whose career as a Turkish spy in the pay of the German Government, ended before a firing squad in Vincennes, France, in 1918, was recalled yesterday when Surrogate Officer John C. O'Brien, in order giving the Public Administrator control of Bolo's New York estate.

This order denies the application of Mrs. Henrietta Martha Prat of Leclai, Albi, France, for control of the estate, presented to the Surrogate last Friday. In the application, Mrs. Prat claims she was a widow of Bolo and gave $4,000 as her estimate of the value of his estate. According to the statement, Mrs. Prat and two sisters of Bolo, living in France, are the only kin.

When Bolo was executed, it was discovered his estate in France was worth nearly $2,000,000 francs (at that time about $2,000,000). Two women, one of them Mrs. Prat, presented claims to the fortune, saying they were his widows.

DISAPPEARING ISLAND
COMES UP THIRD TIME

Falcon Volcano in South Sea Tonga Group Rises From Ocean in Eruption.

By the Associated Press.

SUVA, Fiji Islands, Oct. 11.—A wireless message relayed here by the British Consul in the Tonga Islands from H. M. S. Laburnum says that Falcon Island has reappeared and that its volcano is erupting. The volcano is reported to be spouting lava at intervals of about one minute in every 20.

The Laburnum reported that the island is about 500 yards long in a north-south direction and about 1450 yards broad. The east and west sides slope up gradually to the edge of the crater, which is about 305 feet high. The position of the island, as charted, is about 45 miles north of Nukualofa Island in the Tonga group.

Falcon Island first appeared, so far as is known, on Oct. 14, 1885. After some volcanic activity it sank beneath the sea. It appeared again a few years later, then again disappeared.

MANY CITIES INVITE COOLIDGE

South Atlantic Towns Want Stopovers on Proposed Trip to Cuba.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Anxious to have the President Coolidge contemplates attending the Pan-American conference in Cuba in January has brought to him a deluge of invitations to visit cities in the South Atlantic states, either during his journey to Havana or on his return trip to Washington.

Writing today to Senator George, Democrat of Georgia, acknowledging an invitation for Mr. Coolidge to visit Thomasville, Secretary Sanders said that for the President to accept even a small number of these invitations would prolong his trip far beyond the time he would have. "The President does not feel that he should be away from Washington any longer than necessary while Congress is in session," the secretary added.

Special Commissioner's Report to U. S. Judge Faris Says Property-holders Were Overcharged.*RECOMMENDS AWARD TO TRINIDAD FIRM

Total Excess Cost to Citizens for This Kind of Paving Is Indicated to Be About $200,000.

Property owners on Meramec street, from Thirty-eighth street to Gravois avenue, were overcharged in the sum of $19,063.84 on the reconstruction of the street with Willite process asphalt in 1924. This is set forth in the report filed yesterday with Federal Judge Faris by Irvine Mitchell, special commissioner in litigation between the Willite company and the Trinidad Asphalt Manufacturing Co. The report, recommending that damages of $24,242.27 be awarded to the Trinidad company, is to be approved or rejected by Judge Faris.

The Meramec street paving job, on which the commissioner's report was based, was 14,388 square yards in amount, and its cost to the payers of special tax bill was $33,547.81. The total yardage of streets, mostly in South St. Louis, on which the Willite process was used under the same arrangement, calling for a royalty to the Willite company, was 167,443 square yards, and the cost was $317,535.

If the proportion of overcharge in the other cases was the same as in the Meramec street case, the total excess cost to the property owners on the Willite work was about $200,000.

Kinsey's Trip West Recalled.

In 1923 President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service and Clinton H. Fish, then Director of Streets and Sewers, went to Los Angeles at the invitation of the Western Willite Co., and at the company's expense to inspect pavements of that material. After returning to St. Louis, they recommended that one-fourth the street paving program for the year 1924 be specified for Willite paving, and this was done in the ordinances passed.

The Willite process paving is made by mixing sulphate of copper with sheet asphalt, for hardening purposes. The Willite company patented the process, and required that contractors buy the material from them, at a price which included the company's royalty. The Trinidad Asphalt Co. charged that one local contracting company, the Central Paving and Construction Co., was favored by the Willite company in its price, enabling the Central company to underbid others on the undesirable jobs, and leave the undesirable jobs for other concerns.

On the Meramec street job, the Trinidad firm underook to mix its own paving composition, but the Missouri Willite Co. filed suit to enjoin it against doing so, and an injunction was granted in Federal Court, Aug. 4, 1924. The injunction remained in force until July 2, 1925, when Judge Faris held that the patent of the Willite Co. was invalid, and that the process was not patentable.

The Trinidad company then filed a claim against the Willite Co. on the $25,000 bond which the Willite Co. was required to give when it obtained the injunction. This claim was heard by Mitchell as special commissioner, and his report holds that the Trinidad company is entitled to $24,242.27. This includes the difference between the price which the Trinidad company had to pay the Willite company and the price for which it could have prepared the material itself, excess costs of draying and other incidental.

The Willite company appealed from Judge Faris' decision, but the District Court of Appeals sustained Judge Faris and the United States Supreme Court declined to review the matter.

In his report, Mitchell criticizes especially the wording of the specifications relating to the Willite process. He finds that the ordinances did not require the contractor to use the patented process, but that the advertisements of letting did so require.

"The phrase 'Willite process' in the ordinance, caused the taxpayers to pay a fancy price," the commissioner says. He cites an agreement between the Western Willite Co. and the city in which the company agreed to furnish a high-quality concrete binder to contractors for $10.75 a ton, f. o. b. at its yards at 6161 Maple avenue, and top surface asphalt at $15.50 a ton.

Corcoran Suggested.

"The language in the two documents" (the ordinance and the agreement), he declares, "is strongly suggestive of an effort to coerce contractors into buying Willite, but it did not obligate them to unequivocal terms."

"The question naturally arises why the proponents of the process should have enveloped in such haze what they intended to be a public municipal corporation to ostensiblemandate for its use. The reason is by throw open public work to general bidding, and then by specifically ruled cases the Supreme Court of this State has sharply made or manufacturer."

More Praise from Owners of STUDEBAKER'S ERSKINE SIX

Under every conceivable condition of driving—over every type of road—up hills that would try the mettle of any car—month after month Erskine owners have been putting their cars to heroic tests of endurance and stamina. Because the Erskine Six has proved itself worthy of their praise and enthusiasm over thousands of miles of travel, Erskine owners have volunteered these convincing comments:

Couldn't Be Improved

"The Erskine Six is the best car I have ever driven. I don't see where any improvements could be made. It does everything you claim, and drives and steers beyond all my expectations. The comfort of the car is beyond all question. We think it is beautiful and the finest small car on the market."

C. H. A., Milford, Del.

Beautiful Motor

"As I am constantly working with all types of automobiles, more so than perhaps the average owner, I know what I am talking about when I praise my Erskine. It is one of the few—yes, very few—medium priced cars in which I have seen such a beautiful motor. It is also the first car I have ever owned that Mrs. F. feels she is fully master of."

H. B. F., Dayton, Ohio

A-1 Service

"My Erskine gives me A-1 service. I have driven it over 5,000 miles in ten weeks. This is giving it a real test and that motor is the best light six motor I have yet to ride behind."

P. G. W., Elkhart, Ind.

"The car, to my mind, meets all the requirements and excels in every respect anything on the market at its price and many at a greater figure. This is my fourth car, all of them Studebaker products, and I am well satisfied."

T. C., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Runs Like New

"It is the only car I have had which I didn't have to grind valves and clean carbon every 1,000 or 1,500 miles to keep her pulling. Runs as smoothly as she did when new."

Dr. W. D. S., Steubenville, Ohio

Wonderful Car

"Truly a wonderful car for my business. The longer I drive it the better I like it."

Dr. C. B. H., Charlotte, Mich.

Easy to Drive

"Easiest car to drive I have ever handled in my sixteen years' experience in driving."

I. C., South Bend, Ind.

Best Car on Market

"I think the Erskine is the best car on the market for the money. Mine has given me far more service than I ever expected."

O. J. K., Alderson, W. Va.

"I Know Cars"

"It is a pleasure and something to look forward to, to sit at the wheel of my Erskine. My mother, brother, and I took a 1,500-mile trip with comfort in the Erskine Coupe and I am six foot. I am talking Erskine to everyone who is interested in automobiles. I am an automobile draftsman and I know cars."

E. H. G., Cleveland, Ohio

Very Much Pleased

"The more I drive my Erskine, the better I like it. My mileage to date is 3,300. It is fine and I am very much pleased with my car."

A. J. J., Williamsport, Pa.

BEARS TO EMPLOY AN OPEN ATTACK AGAINST TIGERS, SATURDAY

MISSOURI LINE
WOULD STOP A
RUSHING GAME

Coach Higgins Indicates Washington Will Cut Loose With Varied Offensive in Big Game.

By Charles Eichenbaum.

The Washington U. offense which Coach Bob Higgins will launch against the Missouri Tigers here Saturday on Francis Field will disclose a completeness which has not been shown in the three Bear games to date. Higgins made this plain yesterday afternoon on when he sent his squad through attack maneuvers providing a larger variety of plays than the Bears have previously employed.

The forward-pass which has been used sparingly to date and which has played little part in the down-field march of the Bear backfield is likely to be given much more attention, the signal drill indicating the Tigers' line, which Arkansas found holding in midfield, is too heavy for continuous line attacks. Higgins has earned the contempt of his own players, but the hostility of Lighthill Huston, at one time half-owner of the club, has given him a penance, while his players made the mistake of thinking that Higgins' half-point size was an indication of a trifling caliber.

Higgins has earned the appreciation of all. Higgins has won it by winning in spite of him; and he has won over the malcontents on the club who once gloated him.

He gave New York five pen-sants and two world's championships.

He HAS made good.

First Aid to the Yanks.

ONE of the big helps to Higgins in his climb has been Bob Connelly, formerly scout for the backfield action. The bulky first-string quartet in which are included Whittier, Bickel and Hartnett, a trio of weight-carrying plungers, now is moving about the field with an ease and speed comparable to the scrimage of track meet, how it can continue early in the season for new opponents.

Quarterback Job Still Open.

The quarterback position is still bothering Higgins, he demonstrated yesterday when he shifted Thies Lohrding, one of his reserve backs, into the first team, relieving John Duncan. Paul Hardings letterman, who like Lohrding has also won the championship on the cinder track, is also in the game, but he and Hartnett and Whittier are needed closer to the line for defense.

Elwin Comstock, the Washington star, did not return to the freshman football last year and who returned this fall nearly 20 pounds underweight, has apparently convinced Higgins that he is again in shape for active duty. Shimmers, a younger man, replaced Comstock in the Rolla game, and while the coach appeared satisfied with Shimmers' work, the experienced head coach thought the older man was reckoned of more.

The condition of the Washington U. squad for the Missouri game will not be first-class, the squad members indicated when they limped from the dressing room to the practice field yesterday. The Rolla Miners left remembrances of their visit with most of the backfield men in the shape of bruised legs or arms. Hartnett, the Bears' star punter, was forced to forego his punting practice yesterday when Higgins ordered the kickers to warm up.

Capacity Crowd Expected.

A. E. Ellers, Washington U. business manager, predicted one of the largest crowds in recent seasons for Saturday's game, after checking over the stadium seating plan yesterday afternoon. Reservations have already been received from many out-of-town alumni. Ellers declared. Temporary bleachers for Missouri U. students have already been erected. Ellers reported also that a number of his good seats were still unreserved.

BERT CLARK WILL BE IN TIGER BACKFIELD
AGAINST WASHINGTON

By the Associated Press. COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 11.—Still minus the services of some of the backfield veterans, Coach Gwynn Henry today set about getting the Missouri Tiger football team in shape for their next Valley game, Saturday, with Washington University at St. Louis.

Captain Flammans, after contributing his share to the pass that beat Nebraska last Saturday, went back to the hospital and likely will not go into service Saturday. Bert Clark, pass catcher, will likely be in condition for the game, however, it was indicated in yesterday's practice.

Mayberry Outpoints Morris.

By the Associated Press. DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 11.—Howie Mayberry of Duluth, former Canadian backfield champion, decisively outscored Battling Bessie of Duluth, here last night in a 12-round bout. The bell saved Morris from a knockout in the last round, a right upper cut to the jaw sending Morris flat on his face to the canvas.

DREYFUSS SAYS
HE HAS NOT SOLD
PITTSBURG CLUB

And the Question of Where Kiki Cuyler Will Be Traded Goes On—Reds Will Not Trade Critz.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—In spite of an emphatic denial by Barney Dreyfuss that his Pittsburgh Pirates have been sold to Lou C. Wentz, Tulsa oil operator, the question of the probable transfer of the team to a new owner and the probability of a trade involving Hazen Cuyler, outfield star, continued to hold first place in the day's baseball news.

It is known that the Cincinnati Reds and the Brooklyn Robins have made overtures for Cuyler's services, and late yesterday it was announced from St. Louis that Manager Bob O'Farrell is ready to offer Pitcher Flint Rhem in a deal for the outfielder. Manager Jack Hendricks of Cincinnati, in discussing a Cuyler trade, said that he would not consider a deal involving Second Baseman Hughie Critz. Since Critz is obviously the one man on the Cincinnati club most desired by Pittsburgh, it would appear that the Reds' chances of landing Cuyler are nil.

Bob O'Farrell has chosen Critz.

At the request of the Post-Dispatch, Coach R. L. Mathews of St. Louis University and Coach Robert Higgins of Washington University have designed a short series of lateral pass plays for scholastic players to try.

These are only two things definitely established in regard to the Cuyler situation now. One is that he will not be with the Pittsburgh club next season if Dreyfuss remains the club owner, and the other is that Cuyler will not be traded to the New York Giants.

Dreyfuss has very serious and lasting prejudices against assisting New York to any more National League pennants.

The fifth annual Food Show opened last night at the Coliseum under the auspices of the Retail Grocers' Association with only one thing lacking.

Each year since the show was instituted, a feature of the program has been the cake-baking contest. This year there were no entries. The judges before 3 p. m. Newweds are especially invited to attend the school and participate in the contest.

About 8000 men and women, chiefly the latter, attended last night's opening. The opening night's proceeds will be given to the Red Cross tornado relief fund.

Everything esthetic and all sorts of household tools and equipment are displayed in the 85 booths. Food samples are being passed out, and for everyone who declines a sample, there are many who want more than one sample, and usually get it.

A cooking school, open to housewives, will be held at 2 p. m. daily, under the direction of Miss Mary Barber. There will be a prize cake-baking contest tomorrow, the cakes to be submitted to the judges before 3 p. m. Newweds are especially invited to attend the school and participate in the contest.

Some Popular Exhibits.

One of the exhibits is a glass refrigerator case which contains Col. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," modeled in butter—1000 pounds of butter.

Another popular exhibit is a small mill which grinds whole wheat flour. The wheat is emulsified into one end of the mill and the flour comes out the other end.

Music by an orchestra and vocalists also is on the program. The show will run throughout the week.

The BENSON MURDER CASE

S. S. VAN DINE © CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

THIS HAS HAPPENED.
Suspicion falls on Miss St. Clai when her gloves and handbag are found at the scene of the murder, but Vance demonstrates by means of measurements that the murderer must have been approximately six feet tall. Mr. Platz tells of a woman who called on Benson the afternoon preceding the murder. Markham meets Pfyfe and draws him into conversation.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIV.

PFYFE made a mildly deprecating movement with his carefully manicured fingers. He was, he explained, a "conspiracy, only 'too glad to discomfit himself" to give aid to servants of the public. A distressing necessity, to be sure; but his manner conveyed unmistakably that he knew and recognized the obligations attaching to the dictate of noblesse oblige, and was prepared to meet them.

He looked at Markham with a self-congratulatory air, and his eyebrows queried: "What can I do for you?" though his lips did not move.

"I understand from Maj. Anthony Benson," Markham said, "that you were very close to his brother, and therefore might be able to tell us something of his personal affairs, or private social relationships, that would indicate a line of investigation."

Pfyfe gazed sadly at the floor. "Ah, yes, Alvin and I were very close—we were, in fact, the most intimate of friends. You cannot imagine how broken up I was at hearing of the dear fellow's tragic end."

He gave the impression that there was a modicum of truth in Aeneas and Achates. "Ah, I was deeply grieved at not being able to come at once to New York to put myself at the service of those that needed me."

"I'm sure it would have been a comfort to his other friends," remarked Vance, with cool politeness. "But in the circumstances you will be forgiven."

Pfyfe blinked regretfully.

"Ah, but I shall never forgive myself—though I can't hold myself blameless." Only the day before the tragedy I had started on a trip to the Catskills. I had even asked dear Alvin to go along, but he was too busy."

Pfyfe shook his head as if lamenting the incomprehensible irony of life. "How much better—ah, how infinitely much better—if only—"

"You were gone a very short time," commented Markham, interrupting what promised to be a homily on perverse providence.

"True?" Pfyfe indigently admitted. "But I met with a most unfortunate accident." He polished his eye-glass a moment. "My car broke down, and I was necessitated to return."

"What road did you take?" asked Heath.

Pfyfe delicately adjusted his eye-glass, and regarded the sergeant with an intimation of boredom.

"My advice, Mr.—Heath—Said—"

"Heath," the other corrected him surlily.

"Ah, yes—Heath. . . . My advice, Mr. Heath, is that if you are contemplating a motor trip to the Catskills, you apply to the Automobile Club of America for a road-map. My choice of itinerary might very possibly not suit you."

He turned back to the district attorney with an air that implied he preferred walking to an equal.

"Tell me, Mr. Pfyfe," Markham asked: "did Mr. Benson have any enemies?"

The other appeared to think the matter over.

"No—no. I should say, who would actually have killed him as a result of animosity."

"You imply nevertheless that he had enemies. Could you not tell us a little more?"

Pfyfe passed his hand gracefully over the tips of his golden mustache, and then permitted his index-finger to linger on his cheek in an attitude of meditative indecision.

"Your request, Mr. Markham," he spoke with painful reluctance, "brings up a matter which I hesitate to discuss. But it is best that I confide in you—ah, Alvin, in common with many other admr—

The Greatest Story in the World—By Kor

The Bible in Pictures

Then went up Moses, and Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel: And they saw the God of Israel: And there was under his feet as it were a paved work of a sapphire stone, and as it were the body of heaven in his clearness. And upon the nobles of the children of Israel he laid not his hand: but he passed between the midst of them.

Also they saw God, and did eat and drink. And the Lord said unto Moses, Come up to me into the mount, and be there: And I will give thee tables of stone and a law, and commandments which I have written: that thou mayest teach them.

outburst of temper, told Alvin that, unless he left the lady strictly alone in the future, he would pay with his life. The Captain even went so far as to draw his revolver half-way out of his pocket."

"Was it a revolver or an automatic pistol?" asked Heath.

"I misspoke myself: forgive me. It was not a revolver. It was, I believe, an automatic army pistol—though, you understand, I didn't see it in its entirety."

"You say there were others who witnessed the altercation?"

"Several of my guests were standing about," Pfyfe explained; "but, on my word, I couldn't name them. The fact is, I attached little importance to the whole affair—indeed, it had entirely slipped my memory until I read the account of poor Alvin's death. Then I thought at once of the unfortunate incident, and said to myself: Why not tell the District Attorney?"

"Thoughts that breathe and words that burn," murmured Vance, who had been sitting through the interview in oppressive b. edom.

Pfyfe once more adjusted his eyeglass, and gave Vance a withering look.

"I beg your pardon, sir?"

Vance smiled disarmingly.

"I have a quotation from Gray. Poetry appeals to me in certain moods, don't you know . . . Do you, by any chance, know Col. Ostrander?"

SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 12.—The complete domination of the Democratic party organization in Missouri by United States Senator Reed, who only seven years ago was officially repudiated at a State convention, was recognized at a meeting of the Democratic State Committee here last night. By unanimous action it endorsed Reed for the presidential nomination.

Not content with a strong endorsement of Reed for the presidential nomination, the party representatives went on record as also favoring the nomination of any other candidate for the nomination for United States Senator. The action may be considered a direct notification to Charles M. Hay, dry leader, who has told friends of his intention to seek the senatorial nomination, that the party organization is opposed to his candidacy.

It is too early to estimate the effect of the action upon the ranks and files of Democrats throughout the State. It is possible that Reed will be accepted by the general run of Democrats and that Reed will be unopposed for the Senate. However, there are those who can see the possibilities that it will arouse the old anti-Reed fight which died down after 1922. The old fire, it is known, has been faintly smoldering.

Remarkable Comeback.

The comeback of the Senator is remarkable and astonishing, the action of the committee being nothing less than complete admission by the party organization that it cannot win in the State without Reed, and the belief that with Reed it can carry the State.

When one recalls the Joplin convention of 1922, when Reed was refused the privilege of representing Missouri as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention and when he was denounced from one end of the State to the other as being no longer a Democrat, the resolution adopted last night is of marked significance.

The text of the resolution was:

Be it resolved, by the Democratic State Committee in meeting assembled, representing the 15 congressional districts of the State of Missouri:

That we unanimously endorse the movement looking to the nomination of our senior Senator, James A. Reed, as Democratic candidate for President of the United States at the coming Democratic national convention.

We have no second choice for that office, and recommend to the Democracy of the State a united, harmonious and vigorous support of his candidacy.

We believe, also, in the interest of a successful democracy, Senator Reed should again file as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, and we suggest that he do so, so that, in any contingency he will continue to represent this State and the Central West in defense of its best interests and traditions.

The resolution was prepared under the direction of Senator Hawes and was introduced after consultation with Ed Glenn of Louisiana, Mo., Reed's campaign manager. Reed, it is said, had no personal part in its preparation.
